new york magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the new york herald tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country with award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating new york as both a place and an idea in the last decade of the 20th century during a time when african americans were starting to take inventory of the gains of the civil rights movement and its effects on the lives of black professionals in the public sphere the memoirs of several journalists were published a number of which became national bestsellers african american journalists examines select autobiographies written by african american journalists in order to explore the relationship between race class gender and journalism practice at the heart of this study is the contention that contemporary memoirs written by african american journalists are quasi political documents manifestos written in reaction to and against the forces of institutionalized racism in the newsroom the memoirs featured in this study include jill nelson s volunteer slavery my authentic negro experience nathan mccall s makes me wanna holler a young black man in america jake lamar s bourgeois blues an american memoir and patricia raybon s my first white friend confessions on race love and forgiveness the exploration of these works increases our understanding of the problems that members of other underrepresented groups may face in the workplace brian blount and gary charles team up to introduce us anew to mark s gospel reinterpreting mark through sermons preached out of very different socio cultural contexts blount draws parallels between mark s message and the african american church s heritage of slavery and oppression while Charles wrestles with making the gospel relevant to well educated white suburbanites each chapter begins with an exegetical study and sermon by one author then the other preacher responds from his own context offering a different view of the text worship over wounds poetry from the olive press when crushing births calling this is more than a book of poems it's a collection of cries confessions and courage forged in the crushing place written during a season the author calls going through the olive press these verses were birthed in the midst of heartbreak hardship and holy wrestling just as Jesus endured Gethsemane to release the anointing within him we too must sometimes be pressed to release the promises planted deep inside us if you've ever wrestled with God over your calling if you've battled silently through ministry marriage money or mental anguish if you've tried to worship while bleeding in your spirit then these words were written for you this book is for the believer who's serious about their salvation but weary from the weight of the journey it's for those who love God deeply yet wonder why he sometimes feels distant in their darkest hour through raw spirit breathed poetry you'll find honest reflections from the valley of crushing encouragement to keep worshiping through the wounds a reminder that the olive press doesn't destroy it extracts purpose hope that your pain is not wasted but is producing something eternal may these pages minister to your soul draw you closer to the Holy Spirit and remind you that even in the press God is present and he's producing oil there's a hell traveling on the road searching for purpose on one side of the coin there are many hidden dangers of deception there is a risk factor for not knowing what lies ahead of the unseen for any of them love convictions lies and hatred challenge the emotions like a pendulum not knowing how deep it will cut or how close it will bring matter to the bridge between life and death being confronted with the character of a snake and a live snake there's a heaven traveling on the road searching for purpose on the flip side of the coin there are many rewards upon discovering the need to find purpose there is a reward for convictions faith trust and love patiently challenging what lies ahead of the unseen there is a satisfaction that is gained and a hidden sweetness of finding out that love is a many splendid thing true love is like going down into the bottom of the ocean finding a pearl decolonizing the academy asserts that the academy is perhaps the most colonized space at the same time the academy is a place of knowledge and transformation as we move into the 21st century it is becoming clear that the academy is one of the primary sites for the production and reproduction of ideas that serve the interests of colonising powers this collection of essays argues the possibility of re engaging the decolonizing process at the level of knowledge and asserts that this is an ongoing project worthy of being undertaken in a variety of fields
